Reds Face New Revolts Over Food Shortages

... 'Hunger Pains' Could Bring Rebellion

WASHINGTON (INS) — A top agriculture expert predicted Friday that acute food shortages will bring new revolts against the Communists in East Germany, Czechoslovakia and other Iron Curtain areas.

Fred J. Rossiter, associate director of the Agriculture Department's Foreign Agriculture Service, said that definite "hunger pains" are being felt by peoples already showing signs of full-scale rebellion against regimentation and collectivism.

Rossiter declared that the threat of starvation may be the final psychological factor needed to touch off explosive uprisings against Red oppression.

Other experts, whose highly secret work amounts to agricultural espionage and who have reliable contacts behind the Iron Curtain, agreed with Rossiter that food shortages have reached proportions which should give the Kremlin real cause for alarm.

These facts were cited:

1. In East Germany alone, farmers have been forced to abandon more than one million acres of land which formerly yielded vast quantities of food.
2. Soviet satellites Czechoslovakia, Romania, Hungary, Poland and Bulgaria—all food exporters before World War I—now are forced to import foodstuffs.
3. Throughout the satellite area, primary shortages exist in bread grain and fat, both of which are vital to a proper diet.

4. Prohibitive production goals, low prices paid by Communist governments for farm commodities, and the channeling of huge quantities of food to industrial areas have interfered with production.
5. Bad weather conditions beset many rural regions in the satellite state last year.
6. The Soviet policy of forcing farm workers into industry has backfired dangerously, and such serious farm labor shortages now exist that women and children have been ordered into the fields.

Rossiter said Russia has been compelled to reverse its previous policy of draining off food supplies from the captive nations for use within the Soviet Union.

DULLES SAYS:

U.S. Is Ready For Peace Or For War

Robertson Assured Rhee America Alert For Red Trickery

WASHINGTON (INS) — Secretary of State John Foster Dulles bluntly asserted Friday night that the U. S. and its Allies are ready for "an honorable peace" in Korea but "if the Communists want war we must be ready for that, too."

At the same time, Assistant Secretary of State Walter S. Robertson said he had promised South Korean President Syngman Rhee that if the Communists sought to use a post-truce conference as a cover for infiltration, "we should try to end the conference as a sham and a hostile trick."

Dulles and Robertson spoke to the nation in a joint radio-television appearance.

The Secretary of State denounced as "absurd" the Communist contention that the United Nations command could not "guarantee" that Rhee would abide by armistice terms.

Both Dulles and Robertson, who as President Eisenhower's special envoy won Rhee's promise to collaborate with the United Nations in respecting truce terms, expressed full confidence in the South Korean leader's "sincerity and good faith."

Dulles declared that Britain and France are in wholehearted agreement with the American determination to keep fighting in Korea unless the Reds agree to an armistice on "honorable terms."

As to Europe, Dulles warned Russia that the mood of captive peoples is becoming "more and more rebellious." He said that the Soviets in their interest and the interest of peace, should agree to a free and united Germany and give their satellite states true independence.

Both Dulles and Robertson said the U. S. had succeeded in convincing Rhee—who opposed truce terms because they left Korea divided—that the objectives of the U. S. and the U. N. are the same as his—a "free, independent and united Korea."

The Secretary of State, replying to Communist assertions that the United Nations command cannot guarantee Rhee's future conduct, declared:

"That is absurd. The proposed armistice does not guarantee the future conduct of any government. I wish that some one would guarantee the future conduct of the Communist regime of China."

Dulles added that "at least until further conference" the Big Three would oppose admission of Red China to the United Nations and continue trade embargoes against the Peiping Communist regime.

The Secretary particularly emphasized the Allied concern that the end of the Korean War could mean more explosive Communist aggression in Indo-China.

B-50 CRASHES: EIGHT KILLED — The burned wreckage of a B-50 bomber which collided in flight with another B-50 near Williams Air Force Base, Ariz., Friday lies on the desert. A crowd of onlookers swarmed around. The Williams AFB Public Information Office reported eight airmen were killed and four parachuted to safety. The second bomber flew back to its station, Davis-Monthan AFB, Tucson, Ariz. (AP Wirephoto Friday Night.)

8 Killed As Bombers Collide

... 5 Crewmen Bail Out Of Falling B-50 Plane; 4 Survive

WILLIAMS AIR FORCE BASE, Ariz. (INS) — Two Air Force B-50 bombers collided Friday 10 miles southeast of Williams Air Force Base and one of the big planes crashed, killing eight crewmen.

Seven of the dead were burned to a crisp in the wreckage. The eighth died of injuries.

The second four-engine bomber suffered only slight damage and returned safely to its base. None of the 11 crewmen aboard were injured.

Five men bailed out of the falling bomber and four survived.

Williams AFB officials said the fifth man suffered fatal injuries when either he or his parachute was struck by the plummeting four-engine bomber. He died while being taken to a Phoenix hospital in a Williams AFB helicopter which had been dispatched to the crash scene.

The seven other death victims were burned beyond recognition in the flaming wreckage.

The big bombers collided at 27,000 feet.

The crash occurred on the far-flung reaches of a vast cattle ranch and a group of cowhands watched the tragedy.

The stricken ship went into a flat spin and plunged to the ground in the desert at the base of Santan Peak, exploding and bursting into flame.

The Williams AFB fire department extinguished the blaze after it had burned for about two hours.

Both bombers were on a routine flight from Davis-Monthan AFB near Tucson, Ariz.

The crashed ship carried a crew of 12.

First reports had placed the crash scene at an elevation of 3,093 feet on Santan Peak.

Ground rescue teams and fire fighting equipment were dispatched from Williams at first reports of the tragedy.

Flames billowed more than 100 feet into the air when the first of the rescue crews arrived.

Officials at Davis-Monthan said crewmen of the bomber which limped home reported it was being flown under visual operation while the ill-fated craft was on instruments at the time of the collision.

They told officers the planes approached each other head-on and the visually-flown plane swerved slightly just before the collision.

France's Christine Martel Wins 'Miss Universe' Title

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Christine Martel of France was selected Miss Universe Friday night. The brunette model-actress from Paris won over 25 international contestants.

Miss United States, Myrna Hansen of Chicago, was runner-up.

Third was Kinuko Ito of Japan; fourth, Ana Lepe Jimenez of Mexico; and fifth, Maxine Morgan of Australia.

Miss France, an 18-year-old auburn-haired gallic beauty, was almost overcome when she was announced as the winner.

She threw up her hands and screamed, "Oh, no!"

Standing 5 feet 6 inches and weighing 125 pounds, the new Miss Universe has measurements of 33, 22 and 35 inches around bust, waist and hips.

The finals produced some rather surprising upsets. The judges' first five choices were all on the petite side, with the exception of Miss United States who weighs 125 pounds.

Miss Martel has blue-gray eyes and was born in the small town of Pienne in north France. Her father, Georges Magnani, is a Parisian theater operator.

Miss Martel is a former fashion model and has had three bit parts in movies.

Senate Group Votes Return On Fund Cuts

... AF Appropriations

WASHINGTON (INS) — The Senate Appropriations Committee voted Friday to restore $199,862,500 of the $240,000,000 House cut from President Eisenhower's request for Air Force funds.

The proposed restoration was part of a net $77,161,000 added to the House-passed bill to appropriate $34,434,140,500 for the Army, Navy and Air Force for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1954.

The Senate group made major cuts in several House-approved items, the chief one being a $250,000,000 slash in funds for reserve tools and facilities for defense construction.

Driver Injured As Car Hits Tree

HENRY D. Whitcomb, 28, 645 So. 20th, was released from St. Elizabeth's Hospital with four stitches in his forehead following a car-tree collision at the entrance of the fairgrounds early Friday evening.

Whitcomb, making the turn from the fairgrounds on 17th and Court, suddenly got his shirt caught on a steering wheel knob and the movement caused the car to leave the pavement and hit the tree.

Accident Is Fatal To Carroll Infant

HARTINGTON, Neb. (AP) — The State Safety Patrol reported the death Friday night of 4-months-old Michael Gilsdorf of Carroll, Neb., in a two-car accident on State Highway 84 one-half mile east and one-half mile south of here.

The patrol said the boy was riding in a car driven by Earl Gilsdorf of Carroll which stopped at a stop sign, then drove onto the highway into the path of a car driven by Merlin Bengamin of Coleridge.

Leaking Gas, Explosives Form A Dangerous Situation

The situation—literally—was an explosive one Friday afternoon at the Kent Service Station at 27th and Adams.

A gas transport sprung a leak in the 1,675 gallon compartment when a steel rod was picked up by the truck's tires and pushed through the tank.

Gas flowed in a steady stream.

But the thing which made firemen apprehensive was the fact that two trucks carrying explosives were parked nearby.

Driver of the transport was Vern Gittins of Crescent, Ia.

The gas was transferred without incident.

And a situation which could have been dangerously explosive was averted.

Truce Reply Is Held Up

Negotiators To Meet Again Sunday

ROKs Shun Talks

MUNSAN (Saturday) (AP) — The Reds Saturday asked for and got a one-day extension until Sunday of the truce talk recess called Thursday after the Allies had made clear their position that it was time for an armistice.

The Communist request was made at a morning meeting of liaison officers which lasted only one minute.

The additional delay could mean that the Reds had not formulated their reply to the firm Allied demand that it was time to get down to business.

The next session now is set for 11 p.m. Saturday (CST).

A Peiping Radio broadcast insisted Saturday that "the Americans are responsible for holding up the talks." It asked rhetorically whether "the American side is prepared to break off the negotiations?"

Washington sources said the Reds were told Thursday they have all the assurances they need that President Syngman Rhee will not obstruct a truce and the time for signing has come.

In Seoul, the boycotting South Korean truce delegate, Maj. Gen. Choi Duk Shin, told The Associated Press the present offer was "entirely unacceptable to the Korean people" and he has no intention of taking part in the talks so long as the terms are unchanged.

Gen. Mark Clark, U. N. Far East commander, flew to Munsan Friday and conferred for three hours with Lt. Gen. William K. Harrison, chief U. N. truce delegate. Later he declined comment, stressing that his command would abide by the security agreement covering the Panmunjom negotiations.

Wished "Good Luck"

Gen. Clark wound up his Munsan conference by telling Gen. Harrison: "Good luck to you" and then flew back to Tokyo.

Gen. Clark talked briefly with Rhee before going to see Gen. Harrison. Neither Rhee nor Clark has commented on what they discussed.

In Washington, President Eisenhower's special truce envoy, Walter S. Robertson, reportedly told Senate and House Foreign Policy Committees that in his recent conferences with Rhee he got everything down "in black and white" after persuading Rhee to collaborate.

'Super' Atom Sub To Have Triple Speed

WASHINGTON (INS) — The Navy plans to build a "super" atomic submarine that will travel underwater more than three times as fast as today's conventional diesel-powered subs.

This was reported by Rear Adm. Homer Wallin in testimony made public Friday by the Senate Appropriations Committee. Wallin is chief of the Navy's Bureau of Ships.

After referring to the atomic sub which the Navy has almost completed and to the one it intends to start constructing in a few months, Wallin added:

"We have a study going on for a larger submarine of much higher speed."

His detailed discussion on this "super" submersible was off-the-record in the interests of national security, but he said he meant 50 per cent faster when he mentioned "much higher speed."

The first A-subs will probably be able to travel at 25 knots or more, compared with the 10 knots of conventional subs. A knot is reckoned as one nautical mile per hour.

180-Day Limit Set

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — If the Communists fail to agree to the unification of Korea within 180 days after a cease fire, the Republic of Korea will open fire again, the ROK ambassador to the United States declared Friday.

Rotation To Be Slowed With Truce

WASHINGTON (INS) — Pentagon officials said that a majority of U. S. troops now in Korea will still be overseas by Christmas even if the Communists agree to an armistice.

They added that a truce probably will lessen chances of an early return of many of the Korean GI's because the rate of rotation will be slowed.

One Defense Department spokesman predicted that the U. S. will have to maintain forces in the Far East for years to come.

He commented: "We have already had to maintain troops in the Far East for the eight post-war years. As the world situation remains today, no one can say how long this will have to be continued for our own security."

An Army directive declared: "It doesn't look at all like a getting-home-by-Christmas situation for the bulk of our armed forces in Korea."

Vandals Wreak Heavy Damage On Stalled Car

Police are on the lookout for a couple of human car wreckers who did everything but smash up the engine of a car belonging to Gloria Boucher of Rt. 2 Lincoln.

When she found the car wouldn't run, Mrs. Boucher went for help. When she returned she found the following:

Every window in the car broken, the head lights and tail lights all smashed, the trunk lid and hinges broken off, both windshield wipers broken, the overhead upholstery ripped out, the right front door kicked in, and all door handles broken off. The incident occurred at First and Vine.

There were no clues as to the identity of the vandals.

Chinese Troops Massing

Thousands Reported In New Red Buildup

ON THE EAST-CENTRAL FRONT, Korea, Saturday (AP) — Allied air spotters today reported that thousands of Chinese were massing north of the Kum-sung river on the east-central front.

Communist tanks moved up with troops in an ominous buildup.

The Chinese troops were streaming into the area with field guns and heavy equipment moved by trucks.

Single groups of as many as 400 men were spotted moving in the open.

It was not possible to say whether movement was the first stage of a new Chinese attack or whether the Reds were only strengthening their defense against the northward advance by three South Korean divisions.

Over-Ceiling Med Payment To Be Studied

Lancaster County Commissioners, back from an hour session on property valuations and assessments with Gov. Crosby Friday afternoon, began discussion on how to raise the money for over-ceiling medical payments to assistance recipients—in the budget coming up for action in the next few weeks.

The board's problem, stemming initially from action of the 1953 Unicameral in putting this assistance burden on all counties instead of the state, is that beginning Jan. 1, 1954, they will need money for these payments—and the bulk of county tax payments, on real estate, doesn't begin coming in until May.

The commissioners tentatively decided to pass a special mill levy to take care of the $250,000 to $300,000 estimated to be needed and discussed two methods of getting enough money beginning Jan. 1 to assume the costs.

Mild Week-End Temperature Seen

Pleasant temperatures are forecast during the week end.

The weather Bureau said Saturday's outlook was for fair to partly cloudy skies, along with somewhat warmer readings in the west. The mercury should top in the mid-60's in the state during the day.

The extended forecast calls for only minor daily changes in the weather situation the next five days. Average temperatures should range from 2 to 5 degrees below normal maximums in the lower 90's.

Tractor Kills Harold Barney

GENEVA, Neb. (AP) — Harold Barney, 70, was killed late Friday in a tractor accident on his farm eight miles south and 1½ west of here.

Fillmore County Deputy Sheriff Marvin H. Asseln said Barney had gone out to a field and was about to hook his tractor to a plow. Apparently Barney fell, the deputy said, and when he did jerked the tractor into gear.

The rear wheel of the machine rolled onto the farmer's head.

His wife found him when she took some lunch out to the field for him.

Ike Refugee Bill Gets Nod

WASHINGTON (INS)—The Senate Judiciary Committee tentatively approved President Eisenhower's bill permitting Iron Curtain refugees to enter the U.S. as immigrants.

The 15-man committee voted 6 to 4 to report the measure favorably for Senate action. It was explained that five members who did not vote have 24 hours to cast a vote.

The bill was watered down to 220,000 refugees as compared to the 240,000 asked by President Eisenhower. A House bill provides for the admission of 247,000.

Baarslag Blasted

WASHINGTON (INS)—Dr. Robert L. Johnson, outgoing overseas information chief, asserted that a key aid to Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.), has been "caught in a flagrantly inaccurate statement."

In a statement read by his special assistant, Martin Merson, Johnson struck hard at Karl Baarslag's charge that the U.S. Overseas Information Service "just doesn't go in for anti-Soviet literature."

Opponents Satisfied

WASHINGTON (INS)—Opponents of proposed private power development of the Snake River said they are satisfied now that the Interior Department will not attempt to coerce employees who appear as witnesses in the controversial Hell Canyon case.

The statement was made after a letter from Interior Undersecretary Ralph A. Tudor was read into the record at the Federal Power Commission's hearing on the Idaho Power Co.'s bid to build three small dams on the river.

Tudor said: "All witnesses supplied by this department at the request of the commission or its staff are entirely free to testify as to facts in the matter as they understand them and to further testify as to their own conclusions regarding these facts without restraint."

Hospital Appeals Ruling On Estate

An appeal by the Bryan Memorial Hospital concerning $7,500 of the estate of Jennie B. Churchill, who died Oct. 17, 1952, has been filed in Lancaster District Court.

The action is based on two promissory notes allegedly given the hospital by the deceased to the effect that $5,000 and $2,500 of her estate would be available to it when she died.

The will was filed for probate March 10, 1953, in Lancaster County Court and the first action came on May 19, 1953, when Acting Judge Ralph Slocum disallowed both claims. Judge Slocum said the evidence wasn't sufficient to enable granting the claims.

Appeal bond was set at $100 and the hospital is now appealing the decision to the District Court. Executors of the estate are listed as Samuel C. Waugh and the First Trust Co.

Mrs. Mae Kudrna, 70, 705 So. 31st, died Friday evening at a local hospital.

She was past department president of the United Spanish War Auxiliary and a member of William Lewis Auxiliary No. 2 of Lincoln.

Surviving are her husband, James; a daughter, Mrs. Arnold Johannes of Reno, Nev.; two grandchildren, Ethel Gail and Carol Gwen Johannes of Reno, and a sister, Mrs. J. H. Bowers of Wahoo.

Auction At Milford Set For August 7

Buildings and grounds of the former state home for unwed mothers at Milford, closed July 1 by the Legislature, will be auctioned at 10 a.m. Aug. 7 at the premises.

Hugh Dillon, state land appraiser, said he has heard of two "feet" for the 33-acre site. An unimproved 23-acre tract which has been farmed might be sold separately, he said.

The buildings and grounds, now occupied only by a caretaker, are valued at $50,000. Furnishings have been transferred to other state institutions.

The newest building on the property, a 28-bed hospital built in 1932, is a three-story brick and concrete fireproof structure.

Other buildings are a four-story brick and stucco administration building built in 1890 and a laundry building constructed about 1900 with five second-floor rooms where employees of the institution lived.

TWISTER DESTROYS CHURCH—A roaring twister, described by the Weather Bureau as a freak tornado, struck the eastern outskirts of New Orleans Friday, destroying St. Paul's Catholic Church and damaging other buildings. Police said one unidentified person was injured. Here, an unidentified man inspects damage inside the altar rail (upper left center). (AP Wirephoto Friday Night.)

Colorful Gypsies Come To Life In Community Cast Operetta

Victor Herbert's gay and colorful gypsies, counts and countesses came to life Friday night as a community cast presented "The Fortune Teller" in the out-of-door Pinewood Bowl.

Under the skillful and sincere direction of Prof. Oscar Bennett, and with talented Virginia Ralles Duxbury in the two leading women's roles, the troupe unraveled the loves of the ballet school pupil, Irma, and the gypsy maiden, Masette, who looked alike. The plot, which took place in Hungary, ended happily, despite the scheming, but humorous dance school master, Fresco, played by Homer Harrison, and the penniless Count Berezowski, portrayed by Robert Cumming.

The audience of some 2,500 to 3,000 persons responded favorably to the lively gypsy scenes.

Parleys On New Eastridge Sewer To Open

The board of Sanitary District 1 has authorized its engineer and attorney to proceed with negotiations with Strauss Bros. for construction of a sanitary sewer to serve the newly proposed Eastridge housing addition.

The subject was debated by the board and Tom Davies, attorney for Strauss, for more than an hour. The sewer will run from the east side of the Strauss addition, about one-half mile east of 56th, northeast to about 68th and Vine.

The 10-inch section of the line south of O runs over agricultural land where no assessment could be made. The debate is mainly over who will pay how much on that part of the line.

The entire Strauss sewer is estimated to cost $28,000. A division of cost recommended by District Engineer Walter Coale would have the district paying about $11,000 and Strauss Bros., the remainder.

Coale reasoned that the $11,000 payment would cover the cost of what would be the main trunk part of the overall sewer—that part which will eventually carry connections other than the Strauss addition.

Coale stated he believed the existing sewer through University Place would carry the additional load placed upon it by the Strauss sewer. However, he said, the time is not far off when the sewer outlet from 42nd and Baldwin to the disposal plant will have to be enlarged.

The University Place sewer, he said, is overtaxed now at about 42nd. To relieve the situation, said Coale, would require another line from the 30 inch main at 29th and Baldwin straight east to 42nd.

The board approved construction of a sewer in the Yankee Hill area to serve the new school house soon to be erected there. A delegation from the area appeared before the board to urge construction of the sewer.

The sewer will run from Folsom and Lincoln to Burnham, west on Burnham 1,400 feet and 1,000 feet west on both Stockwell and Calvert.

Also approved was the construction by private parties of a sewer west of 27th from Adams to 500 feet south of Theresa. The construction will be under District supervision and ownership of the sewer will be in the District.

Delayed for further study was a sewer from 7th Ave., and Q to Burlington, north to O and west to the Raymond Rd.

A 10-year-old Lincoln boy, accused of providing the incentive for three children to wreak havoc through a house at 1937 So. 28th, belonging to Mrs. Leona Klein, was put on indefinite probation by Lancaster District Judge John Polk.

The child appeared in Juvenile Court last week with his mother, and listened to testimony from twin girls that they did damage to the house before he came to the neighborhood. The 10-year-old girls and their seven-year-old brother were put on probation to the Child Welfare Department by Judge Polk.

Property Tax Must Be Paid By Airlines

Airlines operating in the state as part of a system of interstate commerce must continue to pay personal property tax on flight equipment used in the state, the Nebraska Supreme Court held Friday.

The court ruled in the case of Mid-Continent Airlines, Inc., now Braniff Airways.

The airline went to court for a declaratory judgment after the State Board of Equalization levied $4,280.44 against the company for 1950 and $4,518.29 for 1951.

The tax levied by the state is against the entire property of the line, in the proportion which the business which the line does in Nebraska bears to its entire operation.

Airlines operating in the state as part of a system of interstate commerce must continue to pay personal property tax on flight equipment used in the state, the Nebraska Supreme Court held Friday.

The court ruled in the case of Mid-Continent Airlines, Inc., now Braniff Airways.

The airline went to court for a declaratory judgment after the State Board of Equalization levied $4,280.44 against the company for 1950 and $4,518.29 for 1951.

The tax levied by the state is against the entire property of the line, in the proportion which the business which the line does in Nebraska bears to its entire operation.

18 Flights Daily

The company operates 14 flights in and out of Omaha daily and four in and out of Lincoln. The flight distance from Omaha to Lincoln is 60 miles, and from Lincoln to Rulo, where it leaves the state, is 40 miles, the court noted.

The company's gross revenue for 1951 was $9,818,363, and the net profit was $135,941. The company pays $22,000 annually for depot rental at Omaha, and a tax of 2½ cents a gallon on gasoline used amounted to $14,180 in 1951.

The airline attacked the property tax levy imposed by the state of Nebraska on constitutional grounds.

The company contended its personal property was not taxable in Nebraska because it is used in interstate commerce.

"It seems clear," the court said, "that Nebraska and other similarly situated states have the power to impose an apportioned ad valorem personal property tax upon the flight equipment of the plaintiff . . . and the assessed value of the property bears a fair and reasonable relation to the use made of it in such taxing state."

Omaha Summer Jury Trials Start Monday

OMAHA (AP)—Three District Court judges will start to hear summer jury trials Monday.

Handling major criminal cases will be Judges Carroll O. Stauffer and James T. English. Judge L. Ross Newkirk will preside over Police Court appeals.

These stations are A, B, C, College View, Bethany, Havelock, and University Place. The State House station will continue to close at 5:30 p.m. weekdays and at noon on Saturdays.

Last evening residential station collections will be made one-half hour later, arriving at the main office at 6:30 p.m. instead of 6 p.m. weekdays and Saturdays.

No change in Sunday and holiday collections, as well as the last down-town business collections which arrive at the main office at 8 p.m. weekdays and Saturdays, were made.

Later collections than these would retard the mail instead of advancing it because of important train schedules, Jerner said.

Banning Of Beer In Cans Is Asked

Attorney Lyle Holland has written the City Council requesting the passage of an ordinance prohibiting the sale of beer in cans and throw-away bottles.

Holland wrote that he has "noted with alarm and viewed with shame the increasing number of beer cans and throw-away bottles that continue to litter yards, streets, alleys and adjoining roads of our city."

Cleaning up of this debris, wrote the attorney, causes extra expense to the city, county and state.

If beer cans and throw-away bottles were abolished, said Holland, retailers could sell beer in bottles requiring a return deposit of two cents. Such bottles thrown around, he said, would be cleaned up by kids and bums seeking extra cash.

Postoffice To Improve Local Window Hours, Mail Pickups

The Lincoln Post Office has announced improvements in local postal service to become effective next Monday, July 20.

The improvements—extended hours for window service and for postal stations and later mail collections—are in line with the directive by Postmaster General

Arthur Summerfield to postmasters in 183 major cities to make needed changes after local study.

Lincoln Postmaster O. E. Jerner said the following improvements were found necessary and "should prove to be very popular." He said some additional expense will be incurred by the improvements.

Postal service changes at the Main Office are as follows:

Red Tanks Roll Back Into East Berlin To Choke Off Strikes

Alarmed Reds Act Quickly

BERLIN (AP) — The Russians sent two tank divisions back to East Berlin Friday to choke off a new wave of anti-Communist strikes before they erupt into another revolt like that of June 17.

It was one month ago that two million rioting workers shook the Red empire with their mass uprising throughout East Germany.

Alarmed by a creeping paralysis of strikes, the Russians moved quickly and menacingly. Columns of tanks began rumbling into East Berlin in the pre-dawn hours Friday.

All day long new groups of tanks entered the city. By nightfall, unofficial estimates put the total at around 300.

The tanks took up strategic positions in the outskirts of the Soviet sector, ready to pounce quickly if the East Berlin workers got out of hand.

It was assumed here that similar tank operations were developing in other Soviet Zone cities where the strikers are most active.

Two big strike centers were the Soviet-owned Buna synthetic rubber plant at Merseburg and the Zeiss optical works at Jena.

The Buna plant has been paralyzed since Wednesday by a sitdown strike of 14,000 workers. Zeiss employees struck last Saturday.

The Russian commander in Jena forced them back to work Tuesday with a threat to shoot every 10th striker, but they are reported to have been on a slow-down ever since.

The strikers demand release of their comrades arrested in the June riots, firing of their Communist bosses—and more food.

Food became perhaps the sorest point after Moscow rejected an offer of the United States to deliver 15 million dollars worth of supplies to East Germany.

Thousands of East Berliners have stormed a West Berlin relief market in the last few days to get supplies they could not obtain in the bare-shelved Communist stores.

West Berlin Borough Mayor Willy Kressman, who organized the relief market, said he had reliable reports that the East German government was rushing tons of fruit and vegetables to East Berlin to placate the hungry people and stave off a new outbreak of violence.

Several Communist party block leaders admitted to a West Berlin reporter that there is a strong feeling of unrest among Soviet sector residents.

Red officials are being issued pistols for personal defense, according to the anti-Communist Fighting Group Against Inhumanity.

SCOUT JAMBOREE OFFICIALLY OPENS—This was the scene at Headquarters Quadrangle Friday as the Third National Boy Scout Jamboree was opened officially with the raising of the American flag. The flags of 55 other nations which recognize Scouting then went up simultaneously on poles surrounding the quadrangle. In foreground is a replica of the Liberty Bell. (AP Wirephoto Friday Night.)

145 Cornhuskers Join Jamboree Opening

IRVINE, Calif. (AP) — Cornhuskers in forest green explorer uniforms and khaki scout shorts marched, 145 strong, Friday night with 50,000 other scouts from 48 states and 16 other nations into the area to see the opening ceremony of the Third National Scout Jamboree.

The ceremony marked not the start but about the midway point in a long trip that the Nebraska scouts will wish would never end. A message from President Eisenhower, a pageant, and songs completed the day which began with a colorful flag raising ceremony at the headquarters area Friday morning.

Sunday will be religious convocation day, with Catholics, Protestants, Christian Scientists, Jews, and Latter Day Saints meeting at various parts of the 3,000 acres of rolling hills.

The Nebraska Scouts portrayed cowboys and Indians at Custer's

Last Stand in the opening night pageant and will enter various demonstrations at sectional meetings and campfires next week. Swim periods were scheduled for Saturday, Monday and Wednesday at Huntington Beach, four miles upcoast. The jamboree site is 45 miles southeast of Los Angeles, or adjacent to Newport Beach and a string of other fine beaches.

Side trips to Knott's Berry Farm, a ghost town, in Buena Park, a suburb of Los Angeles, and a homeward trek via Salt Lake City, Pocatello and Cheyenne will supplement the vast mileage compiled by the Cornhuskers on this big trip.

The westbound ride was highlighted by a visit in beautiful Victoria on Vancouver Island in British Columbia, a sizzling police escorted ride from Portland, Ore., to Jantzen Beach on the Columbia River, and a ride through the orange groves and palm trees of Southern California.

Swapping takes considerable time of the Cornhuskers and their ears of corn, patches, neckerchief slides, Indian tobacco, sugar, and miniature tractors are going like hotcakes for such items as Tennessee mountain dew, rattlers from rattlesnakes, Empire State Building replicas, irradiated atomic dimes, horned toads and a quadrillion of other items.

Ample Food

Quartermasters Dennis Drause of Adams and Dave Waldbaum of Grand Island are assured of ample food quantities being in such strategic jobs, but Melvin Reeve and Pete Hudson of Hastings and North Platte, respectively, as leaders, keep the boys and their patrols in tow. They won't gain more than 20 pounds each during the jamboree, even though they do mix up soap for pancake flour some mornings.

The Nebraska Scouts had to make a new flag for their campsite since their troop number was changed. But their view of the far reaches of the sparkling blue Pacific just below them make up for any exertion of energy. Only one thing, Dennis said, the Nebraska Scouts are surrounded on the other three sides by Texans.

One of the more memorable trips of their journey was the 35 mile ride from Long Beach to Santa Catalina Island, where they were met by beautiful girls, more palm trees, and more beautiful girls. A ride on glass bottomed boats, a view of flying fish at play, and a leisurely ride under balmy blue skies was almost on the unbelievable side. The Cornhuskers are well sold on scout jamborees.

Ike Addresses Scouts

WASHINGTON (INS)—President Eisenhower told the nation's Boy Scouts that bonds of common purpose and common ideals can unite people, "even when they come from most distant and diverse places."

The President sent a message to the third national Boy Scout jamboree in California.

The President emphasized the value of common purposes and ideals, and said: "This is an important lesson, and even if you learn no other, you will leave the Jamboree with a new wisdom."

County Officials Deny Wide Town-Rural Assessment Spread

Lancaster County officials insisted before the State Board of Equalization, that there is not the spread between assessed values of rural lands and town property that is indicated in five year average sale figures compiled by the state tax commissioner.

The state figures showed farm assessments averaging 43 per cent of actual value and city property 34 per cent. The new state law requires that assessments be made at 50 per cent of actual value.

Exhibits were offered showing that in 906 transfers recorded for both urban and rural sales this year the consideration was $6,575,320 and the same property was assessed at $1,739,440 or 26.5 per cent.

Other Exhibit
They listed in another exhibit 150 selected recent sales of Lincoln property showing sales price as $2,329,600 and assessed value as $766,475 or 32.9 per cent. Farm sales were shown as $898,193 and assessed at $287,475 or 32 per cent.

"We do not plead guilty to the charge that we have overtaxed our farmers," said Commissioner Chauncey Barney. But Assessor Arthur Davis admitted under questioning that a five year average was more accurate than a six month's figure.

The assessment abstract showed a total valuation for taxation purposes of $164,058,000 this year, at the 50 per cent level, compared to $176,985,000 last year, when assessments supposedly were at the 100 per cent level.

The report showed a 1 per cent gain this year on farm property and a 6 per cent gain on town property, but drops in personal and business property and motor vehicles more than off-set these increases.

Land Sale Base
Assessor Arthur Davis contended the tax commissioner's figures were high. He said they were based on sales of poorer land.

In Lancaster County, the good farms are being held by the owners, he said.

Davis said he was sure that Lincoln homes shown in pictures exhibited at the hearing by County Attorney Frederick Wagner are assessed at 50 per cent of value as required by the new law.

Gov. Robert Crosby asked whether Lincoln business men had turned in full inventories.

"That's hard to answer," Davis replied.
He said he had only three employees to check 3,000 business firms, but added he had increased the "actual value" figure in this category by $4,300,000 this year. When the 50 per cent rule was applied, however, this year's tax base for this class of property was still lower than last year's figure.

Reappraisal Under Way
Wagner and Commission Russell Brech explained that a reappraisal is now under way in the county and will not be completed until January, 1954. At that time they said an accurate figure will be available.

Wagner contended that any percentage wise increase will only increase the injustice where individual equalization has not been made.

Gov. Crosby insisted, as he has to the same argument from other counties, that a blanket

Boxcar Supply Still Enough For Harvesting

Harry King, rate expert for the State Railway Commission, says the present harvest is the quietest one he has experienced in years.

Normally, King is receiving telephone calls at this time from rate elevator operators complaining about the boxcar shortage situation. This year, with the harvest in full swing, he has received only one call from a Hall County elevator operator.

"And he wasn't complaining about a shortage of cars, but rather about the distribution of the cars," King said.

King credits the railroads with bringing in enough cars to handle the shipments of wheat. The rate expert also suggests that on-farm storage of wheat this year may mean that no big shipments will be made.

"If farmers are storing their wheat on their farms, that will mean we'll be getting wheat shipments later on," King said. "But those we can handle in an orderly fashion."

The loadings of boxcars totaled 37,592 in the midwest for the week ending July 4—a drop of 5,406 from the corresponding week in 1952.

South Hills Addition First Permits Taken

Eleven permits for new homes have been taken out by the Peterson Construction Co. for the first start in the new South Hills addition.

The company plans to complete the homes in 60 to 90 days. The new addition, to contain some 161 two and three bedroom homes, is located between 17th and 20th, Burnham and Pioneer.

Total cost of the development is estimated at $2 million.

Conquering The Giants

In a remote, primitive section of the world, it appears that nothing succeeds like success. Since the recent conquest of Everest by Sir Edmund Hillary, New Zealand bee-keeper, and Shepa Guide Tenzing, members of a British expedition, two more lofty mountain peaks, one of them said to be even more dangerous than Everest in the attempt to scale it, have been climbed.

In this eerie region of fogs, bitter cold, flying snow, and stinging gales, there still remain ample tests to occupy mountain climbers for years if not for generations to come. It is by no means a settled fact that Everest itself is the top of the world. One group of aviators, flying The Hump into

China and forced off the established route, reported a heretofore unknown peak in a previously unexplored section of the Himalayas that towers above Everest. These men of course, flying at high altitudes had nothing to confirm their findings.

But the world may be sure that men will not quit until that lofty mountain chain becomes as commonplace as others in more accessible parts of the world. One result of the conquest of Everest has been to bring that lonely mountain nearer to more homes in America than all of the education and writing previously. Where Everest was merely a word before, today the grimness of its brutal crest is etched upon the memory of many, many millions.

Where Men Lead

Nebraska's "Doc" Miller, chairman of the House Insular Affairs Committee in this session of Congress, was holding a hearing on legislation for organization of the Virgin Islands in Washington midweek.

A spokesman for the Virgin Islands had told the committee over which Dr. Miller presides that the people there are impressed with Nebraska's Unicameral Legislature and were giving some thought to following its pattern. "A mistake," the good doctor said, in substance, to the island representatives. "The people of Nebraska have found that election to the Unicameral on a non-partisan basis was a mistake. It deprives the Legislature of leadership."

If Rep. Miller, bless his kindly heart, was speaking for the politicians, he was 100 per cent right. If he was speaking for the people of Nebraska, he may discover, since most of them are a little less partisan and a little less political than Dr. Miller himself, that he was slightly less than right. And if he was speaking for the members of the Legislature who have served in the Unicameral, Republicans and Democrats alike, he will find that a surprising majority of those members would not willingly go back to the old partisan two-house legislature on their own experience. Nebraska is far enough away from the abuses and the dissatisfaction with the cumbersome two-house system that served this state that a lot of people have forgotten all about those sessions. They were leaderless, too, even as there are now grumblings that with the illness of Sen. Bob Taft ("Mr. Republican"), this present session of Congress could get along with some leadership.

One specific illustration serves the point. Both party platforms, Republican and Democratic, put it down on the line in favor of statehood for Hawaii and Alaska. That is "Doc" Miller's baby, since it is legislation coming within the province of his committee. What has happened to Hawaii and statehood? It passed the House and is now cluttered up in the Senate, with slim possibility that it will get out of the committee there and will pass the Senate. Alaska is in even more deplorable shape. With both major parties committed to Alaskan statehood, if words mean anything, legislation to that end has not even cleared the congressional committees, and Congress is hoping to adjourn by the close of July.

Alaska even more than Hawaii, it would seem, is vital to American security. But Alaska, unfortunately, has the tradition of voting Democratic while Hawaii normally is said to be Republican. Two more Senate seats of a Republican blend wouldn't do the party in power any harm at all. Some of this chatter about a partisan legislature and the leadership provided by choosing members on the basis of a party label is laughable. When this session of Congress is finished, beyond giving Tidelands oil to three states, giving the electric potential of Niagara Falls to three private utilities, and giving those voters who expected a tax reduction the good ol' runaway, the record of this present Congress will be an interesting one. It will stand out like a sore thumb for the failure to fulfill pledges.

The Man She Loves?

A poll by the tabloid London Mirror shows that the British people (or at least those who read the Mirror) want Princess Margaret to marry RAF Capt. Peter Townsend. This is an admirable attempt to extend democratic principles to the royal family, which is about the least free family in Britain.

Editorial Of The Day

Guts Instead Of Guns

From The Boston (Mass.) Herald

The British had the odds. They'd been in business a long time. They had a navy and an army. They had discipline, training, experience and equipment. They had everything needed to put down a small uprising in a subject land.

The Rebels who opposed them were a miserable lot. They deserted and they drank. They ran. They were without ammunition, guns, uniforms, training and experience. What chance did they have to stand up against the modern might of the British Empire?

And yet they won. With guts if not with guns.

It sounds ridiculous to say that those millions behind the Iron Curtain—in East Germany, Czechoslovakia, China, Poland, Hungary and all the rest including Russia itself, could rise up against the monster tyranny of the Communists.

And yet the military potential of millions of persons who desire freedom better than life has never been tested. Such a test, like the famous test at Alamogordo, might rattle the chains of tyranny around the world.

Let us hope that those who have stood up to tyranny in East Berlin, Czechoslovakia and Poland are building up to the time when the mass of men trapped behind the Iron Curtain can burst forth.

If that happens, then they may celebrate their own Fourth of July, in our lifetime and our children's.

Homer Ferguson Puts Pressure On A General

WASHINGTON—G.O.P. Sen. Homer Ferguson of Michigan, who faces a tough re-election fight next year, is so jittery over Harry Truman's talk with Gen. Hoyt Vandenberg urging him to run for the Senate in Michigan, that he summoned Gen. Nate Twining, Vandenberg's successor as Air Force chief of staff, up to Capitol Hill to a secret luncheon. He then proceeded to pressure him to discredit Gen. Vandenberg's testimony regarding the Air Force budget.

Ferguson wanted Twining to testify that Vandenberg had exaggerated budget Air Force needs and had been insubordinate to his superior, Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson.

Twining refused. Whereupon Sen. Ferguson called a Senate hearing, which he put Twining on the spot. He had to testify. Subordinates at the Pentagon advised Twining that the wisest course was for him to get along with the Senate and disavow Gen. Vandenberg.

In the end, however, Twining took a middle course, told senators that, while the Air Force needed the money, it could probably get along on Secretary Wilson's proposed budget.

DULLES KEEPS TALKING

Secretary of State Dulles just can't seem to get away from saying the wrong thing at the wrong time.

The other day Robert D. Stuart, head of the Quaker Oats Company, was being sworn in as ambassador to Canada. The ceremony took place in Dulles' office with newsmen and photographers present, including, of course, the newsmen whose reports reach various foreign countries.

"Mr. Ambassador," said Dulles, making a brief speech to Stuart. "It seems to me that I have participated in quite a few ceremonies for new ambassadors lately. And it gives me great pleasure to swear in a man who is going to a decent country."

TRUTH-FOR-TRUTH ACT

Congress has discovered a new way to make sure its constituents are kept happy. A bill recently passed by the Senate, but still in committee in the House, would make it a law that a fish fancier know from whence his trout cometh.

All trout imported into the United States, under this bill must be conspicuously labeled as to the country of origin. Furthermore, all restaurants must carry the country of origin on their menus.

Purpose of the law is to prevent imported trout from being falsely represented as "brook trout" or "Rocky Mountain trout." Western trout farmers who raise trout commercially for Eastern markets maintain that their product is superior to imported trout, yet imported trout sells for about 40 cents a pound less than its domestic brother.

Trout farmers from Mamie's free and unfettered state of Colorado are among the most active lobbyists for the "trout-labeling" act. However, this is going to cause problems for Mamie's husband's budget and for his policy of unfettered business. For the Pure Food and Drug people, who will have to enforce the act, to make sure that none of the $25,000 restaurants of the nation misrepresent their trout on their menus, will cost half a million dollars.

NOTE—About two million pounds of trout are imported annually. Importers of 700,000,000 pounds of other kinds of fish, Canadian mackerel, Portuguese sardines, and Norwegian herring, are wondering whether their fish will soon have to be stamped too.

UNFETTERED GAS RATES

It has gone unnoticed, but the natural gas lobby is pushing legislation through Congress that will virtually wipe out the federal government's authority to regulate natural gas rates. This will boost the housewives' cooking and heating bill by billions.

What is even more shocking, however, is that the Federal Power Commission is helping to put itself out of business. Under new Republican management, the commission has notified Congress that it approves "in theory" the legislation that would strip its authority over natural gas rates.

Specifically, the new legislation would abolish the commission's authority to regulate the wholesale price of natural gas sold by pipeline companies at state borders. This goes much further than the Kerr bill, which would have deprived the commission of its authority over natural gas prices at the well-head. The Kerr bill was vetoed by President Truman, despite his friendship for Sen. Kerr of Oklahoma, its author.

However, the natural gas lobby has now got three old friends to carry the ball in Congress—Representatives Cal Hinchshaw of California, John Beamer of Indiana, both Republicans, and Oren Harris of Arkansas, a Democrat. They have introduced three identical bills, which would practically put the housewives at the mercy of the gas companies.

The natural gas lobby also seems to be dictating policy to the Federal Power Commission, which is supposed to be the public's watchdog over the gas companies. For the commission seems strangely willing to relinquish most of its rate-making authority and allow the companies free reign. This abdication of authority was expressed by new GOP general counsel, Willard Gatchell, who told the House Inter-State and Foreign Commerce Committee that his agency approved the Hinchshaw-Beamer-Harris bills "in theory."

INSURANCE FOR G.I.s

A peculiar order was issued at Army camps some time ago barring insurance salesmen from soliciting G.I.s during basic training. On the surface there was nothing wrong with the order. Below the surface, however, it looks as if certain brass hats might have taken sides, perhaps unwittingly, in a battle between the biggest insurance companies of the nation and some of the independents.

A group of independents, led by certain Texas insurance companies, has gone much further than the big companies in extending compensation to men in the armed services.

As a result, a battle is in the works between big and smaller insurance companies with a lot of political wires being pulled against the independents.

In Step With The Sower

MRS. Harold Prince, Grand Island, who as a member of the State Board of Control for six years usually took "busman's holidays" so that she could study and compare operations of institutions in other states with those of Nebraska, left this week on a vacation trip, the Sower hears.

She plans a visit in the Colorado Rockies to be followed by a tour of California, which she will see for the first time, and thence to the Pacific Northwest and on to Canada.

She expects to return about Sept. 1 when it is expected that she will again "go on the air" with a woman's interpretation of what is important in the day's news for a Grand Island radio station.

A familiar face was observed by the Sower this week gazing around the Capitol with almost tourist's eyes. It was Chris J. Petrow, former private secretary to Gov. Val Peterson.

He was visiting home folks after a stint in South Africa as an executive in an asbestos mine.

The "hate" campaigns worked up by politicians and others in the U.S. are very amateurish, Petrow asserts. For real hatreds he insists South Africa is the peer of all. The British hate the Boers, which is returned with interest, and both hate the Indian. The Indian hates the Negro and both hate the Boers and English.

PETROW who has always opposed discrimination based on race, creed, color or religion, says among his associates he is classed as a "damn Yankee liberal."

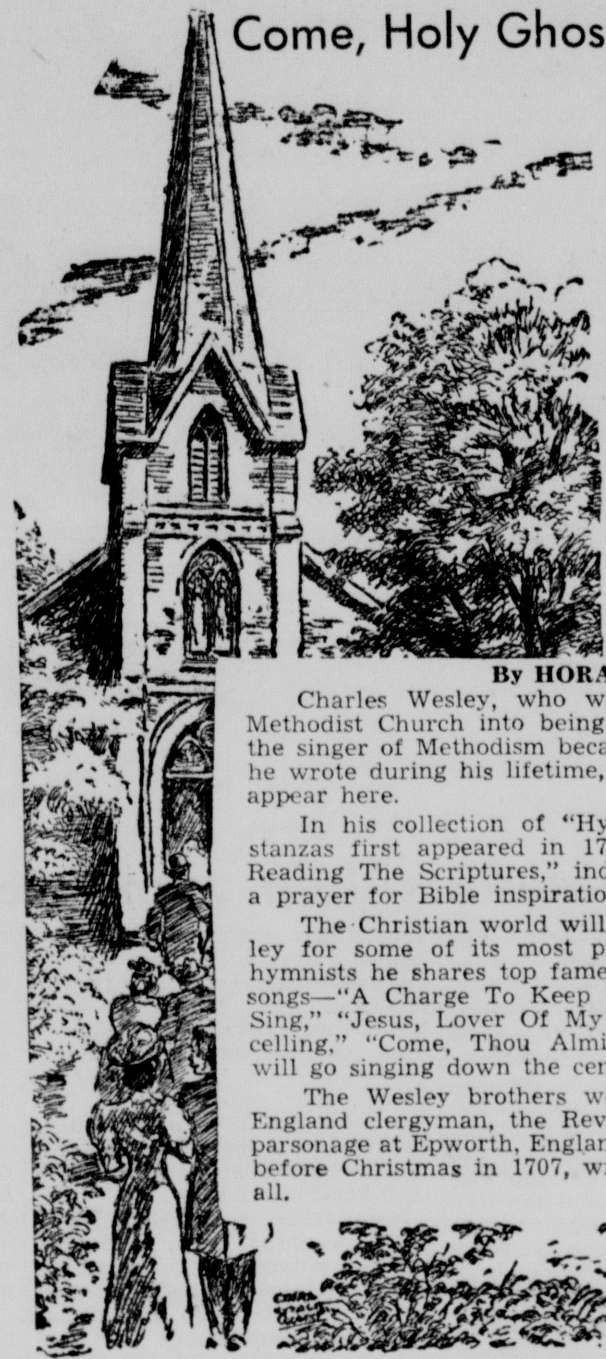

"I am practical, though," he insists. "I have bars on my windows and stay off the streets if alone at night. I have learned that overcoming hatreds is a long, slow process and they have a long way to go when you consider that many believe in witchcraft and scar up their faces and bodies with knives."

Stories Of Famous Hymns

Come, Holy Ghost, Our Hearts Inspire

Come, Holy Ghost, our hearts inspire;
Let us thine influence prove;
Source of the old prophetic fire;
Fountain of life and love.

Come, Holy Ghost, for moved by thee
The prophet wrote and spoke;
Unlock the truth, thyself the key;
Unseal the sacred book.

Expand thy wings, Celestial Dove;
Brood o'er our nature's night;
On our disordered spirits move.
And let there now be light.

God, thro' himself, we then shall know.
If thou within us shine;
And sound, with all thy saints below,
The depth of love divine.

By HORACE B. POWELL

Charles Wesley, who with his brother, John, brought the Methodist Church into being and who will always be known as the singer of Methodism because of the many great hymns which he wrote during his lifetime, was the author of the verses which appear here.

In his collection of "Hymns and Sacred Songs" where the stanzas first appeared in 1740 he gave them the title, "Before Reading The Scriptures," indicating that they were composed as a prayer for Bible inspiration and understanding.

The Christian world will always be indebted to Charles Wesley for some of its most precious hymn-gems. Among English hymnists he shares top fame with Isaac Watts, and his inspiring songs—"A Charge To Keep I Have," "Hark, The Herald Angels Sing," "Jesus, Lover Of My Soul," "Love Divine, All Love Excelling," "Come, Thou Almighty King," and countless others—will go singing down the centuries to the end of time.

The Wesley brothers were sons of a prominent Church of England clergyman, the Rev. Samuel Wesley, and grew up in a parsonage at Epworth, England. Charles, who was born just a week before Christmas in 1707, wrote more than 6,500 hymn-poems in all.

No Place To Hide

The weather being what it is, our house needs one of three things: a traffic warning system or an escape hatch in the dining room.

I specify the dining room because that is where I always get trapped between merging traffic from front and back doors when I come downstairs in a supposedly empty house, clad only in tennis shorts, to get a drink of water.

Consider Monday, for instance. I was alone in the house. I was cool in the tennis shorts. I was also upstairs, and thirsty. So I went downstairs. I was halfway through the house in my progress to the kitchen when I heard the front door open. I ducked behind a door frame and peered back. Mrs. F. was there, with two feminine friends. They were chattering happily.

I sprinted for the kitchen, from where the basement stairs lead down. There was sanctuary! I didn't reach the kitchen, though. I heard the back door open. A babble of small girl talk rushed in. Our daughter was bringing some companions home to play. I skidded on the rug and looked wildly about.

My first impulse was to hide behind the dining room drapes. Behind the drapes, however, were the windows. A quick glance at my own perspiring anatomy convinced me that passers-by could not possibly mistake me for a piece of Greek statuary. Anyway, Greek athletes didn't wear tennis shorts, and I did not intend to give them up. They were, you might say, my last shred of decency.

I tried to crawl under the rug, but it is tacked down. Probably it was well that I did not succeed, because Mrs. F.'s friends would undoubtedly have criticized her housekeeping had they stumbled over a bumpy rug.

So I heaved the sideboard out from the wall, and crouched behind it. I was in the nick of time.

The babbling female forces converged. The small fry went on through, but the greater threat remained. I peered around a corner and spotted Mrs. F.'s shoes. It would be good to warn her, I thought.

"Psst!" I said.

"Do you keep your steam heat on all year?" somebody asked Mrs. F.

"Darling, your sideboard's all out of line," somebody else said.

They conferred about the sideboard, and decided to push it back against the wall. First Mrs. F. heaved. Then they all heaved. I felt like a hamburger patty. Somebody said, "There's something behind it."

"There couldn't be," Mrs. F. said. "It's just heavy. Let's all give one great big shove!"

They drew in deep breaths, and I knew my time was short. Next, they would look behind the sideboard—and probably find me there, a mere pancake of a man. I tensed.

"Now!" said Mrs. F.

They pushed. I squirmed out, like a watermelon seed, and around the edge of the door, and up the stairs. There was a crashing sound behind me, as of a sideboard pushed too hard and too suddenly.

Telling of it later, after the pieces were picked up, Mrs. F. was mystified.

"One of the girls just swears that she saw a white streak dart around the door, just before the crash," she said.

"Hallucination!" I assured her. (Chicago Sun-Times Syndicate)

Increasing Costs

Hebron, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: The cost of our state government continues to climb upward as shown in the July issue of The Nebraska Taxpayer. Every taxpayer in the state should have a copy of the information given there on taxes we do not get in the newspapers.

Following are the appropriations made by the Legislature to pay the cost of state government for the past nine bienniums:

1937-39	$ 55,210,821
1939-41	54,927,678
1941-43	59,207,544
1943-45	63,639,527
1945-47	71,659,089
1947-49	122,644,000
1949-51	160,932,970
1951-53	173,390,096
1953-55	194,784,633

This shows a 361 per cent increase in state government in 14 years under Republican administrations and a one-house legislature. Now the members think their salaries should be doubled. That would give them $3,360.00 for the two-year term. Next they will want an office in the state capitol and a year-around job. It is argued that more pay will interest smarter men for the job. That has not been the case since the one-house legislature has been in existence. While they may be smarter, they have not served the people as well as when there was a two-house group and the members received $10.00 a day for 60 days and then were through drawing pay.

It looks to me as if we made a grave mistake when we adopted the one-house legislature. It is time the voters did a little thinking for themselves before they go to the polls and vote to continue this ever-increasing cost of state government.

They drew in deep breaths, and I knew my time was short. Next, they would look behind the sideboard—and probably find me there, a mere pancake of a man. I tensed.

"Now!" said Mrs. F.

They pushed. I squirmed out, like a watermelon seed, and around the edge of the door, and up the stairs. There was a crashing sound behind me, as of a sideboard pushed too hard and too suddenly.

Telling of it later, after the pieces were picked up, Mrs. F. was mystified.

"One of the girls just swears that she saw a white streak dart around the door, just before the crash," she said.

"Hallucination!" I assured her. (Chicago Sun-Times Syndicate)

Counties Give Contrasting Figures At Equalization Hearing

State Sale Average Is Discussed

By ARCH DONOVAN
Star Staff Writer

State Board of Equalization hearings Friday were a study in contrasts with Lancaster County questioning that five year average sales figures compiled by the tax commissioner were a true reflection of values on March 10 and Adams County reporting that an independent survey proved them substantially correct in its county.

The state figures have been sustained by most counties that have had recent "scientific appraisals" made by outside firms. Richard E. Hunter, Adams County attorney, left with the board exhibits prepared by the independent study group. He said only six appeals have been made from the county assessment and termed such interest by taxpayers "healthy."

August Anderson, the county assessor, told the board that town lot assessments had been multiplied by four from the 1952 figure to bring them up to "actual value."

Only 60 complaints The schedule filed by the county showed total assessed value of $53,820,000 on the 50 per cent basis or 25 per cent higher than the 1952 total which was supposed to be on actual value. He said businessmen were "somewhat disturbed" by the increase in urban real estate.

"If we put in this much valuation we want you to bring the GAGE STORY—Gage County moved in force to tell its story of how they made assessments for this year. Seated from left to right are W. R. Rist, county attorney; Supervisors T. H. Damrow and H. L. others up," he commented. "When you get only 60 complaints on 30,000 returns, I think that shows you are not very much out of line," Hunter observed.

Gov. Robert Crosby, chairman of the state board said, "We congratulate you on a conscientious effort to comply with the law and the state Constitution."

Excellent Help Hunter replied that the officials had received excellent help from the businessmen and lawyers.

Saunders County reported that they had used last year's actual value figures as this year's 50 per cent for assessment and that compared with average sales values they were right at the 50 per cent required by law.

They complained that one newspaper had listed them as one of the "three bad counties" and Gov. Crosby praised them for their effort. They said they had equalized between town and rural real estate but it had been difficult because of inflated city values due to reopening of the Mead ordnance plant.

"We started off on the right foot but ended up on the left," Fred Bruns, Seward County assessor said. He explained that town residents got "paper jitters" after reading reports on what other counties were doing and exerted pressure so that the board reduced increased valuations on town property which had been 400 per cent in Seward and 300 per cent in other towns.

People Fooled He expressed the belief that the people had been "sold a bill of goods" that a local equalization committee was a reappraisal committee. He said he considered the town increases which were reduced to last year's values and used as 50 per cent were low and the original assessment fair.

Bruns advocated that there be a statewide rather than each county making its own reappraisals if the state stays in the property tax field. Many counties have advocated a replacement tax and removal of the state from the property tax field.

W. R. Rist, Gage county attorney, said they believe that business schedules are correct as provided by law but explained that they had to increase some as much as two to ten times last year's report.

He said they had used 33 per cent of the values fixed by an appraisal firm but admitted that the appraiser's figures compared with the averages tabulated by the tax commissioner from sales. They contended that sales reflected transfers of poorer rural land and better grade houses in towns.

York County came up with one of the top reports of the entire week with total valuations 118 per cent of last year. Appraisals made on a 1941 basis have been kept up-to-date and all land classified. Abandonment of a railroad, they said had hurt small town values.

"Inequalities in assessments have been known for many years," Fred Muschiettes, clerk of Pawnee county admitted. "If the state board had started equalizing several years ago, the counties would have too."

He said the county felt that it "would be easier on us" if they just adopted last year's actual values for this year's 50 per cent assessment.

He argued as did adjoining Richardson County that they are having a reappraisal and that they want to equalize "right" rather than in "haste."

Henry F. Schepman, Richardson County attorney, explained, "Father Time will take care of us. Our appraisal will determine who is right."

"We have been waiting 30 years for Father Time to act," Gov. Crosby shot back with a big grin.

explained he was "trying to tell the honest truth."

County Attorney John C. Gewacke said because of lack of rain last fall and fear of drought farm values are 5 to 10 per cent lower than last year and town property off 25 per cent.

Jefferson County officials reported a professional re-appraisal was completed in that county about two years ago.

This year they used 75 per cent of the appraiser's figure on town lots and 60 per cent on farm lands.

"We thought that would come nearer to bringing them to an equal basis. We wanted to use the same percentage on improvements," Assessor James Winslow commented.

Last year's "100 per cent" figure on real estate was used as this year's 50 per cent figure.

Fresh-As-A-Daisy News This Ayem

MRS. KENNETH L. CHRISTENSEN

The channel of the Havelock Church of the Christian Missionary Alliance was appointed with white gladioli and lighted white candles for the marriage of Miss Eleanor Epp, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Theodore H. Epp, and Kenneth L. Christensen, son of C. P. Christensen of Wolbach, which took place Friday evening, July 17. The 8 o'clock ceremony was solemnized by the Rev. Mr. Epp, father of the bride, assisted by the Rev. Ord Morrow, minister of the Havelock Church.

As the 350 guests assembled, the Rev. Melvin A. Jones sang accompanied by Miss Wilma Reiner, organist, who also played the wedding music.

Miss Bernice Epp was her sister's maid of honor and bridesmaid was Miss Ruth Coen of Wheaton, Ill. The attendants appeared in allike frocks of pastel blue or gray, fashioned with off-shoulder bodices and full skirts, and completed by bolero jackets of REALLY planned to be footsore and weary this morning because we were sure we'd have to get out the doorbell brigade to ring in some news for the ayem chatter—But here we are, as fresh as a daisy—and the news—

We were lucky and were around at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Rucklos before the Rucklos trio, Mr. and Mrs.—and daughter, Fredericka—had time to take off their hats—They had just walked in the house from Alexandria, Minn., where they had spent a week with Mr. and Mrs. Tom Wake of Seward—

AND WE were just in time to wave goodbye to Mr. and Mrs. Burnham Yates and their family as they took off for Alexandria where they will spend a couple of weeks or more—

THEN THERE was a greeting for Mr. and Mrs. Harold Stebbins and their daughter, Miss Anne Stebbins, who have just returned from Los Angeles, Calif., where they attended the wedding of Mr. Stebbins' niece, Miss Margaret Gairdner, and visited with various members of the family—and from San Diego where they spent several days as the guests of Miss Alice Abel—

Miss Stebbins will not be home long, however, for next month she will be going to Kansas City where she is to be a bridesmaid at the wedding of her cousin, Carl Zimmerman, and Miss Beverly Jones—After that there will be a week or two at home before she leaves for Ferry Hall, Lake Forest, Ill., where she will be a senior this year.

WHEN MR. AND Mrs. E. N. Thompson and their family left at noon yesterday they were on their way to Nova Scotia where they will spend a summer holiday—They will be joined there by Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Robb and their family of New York City—Perhaps we should say that the Robbs are "formerly" of New York City for immediately following this period of leisure and relaxation Mr. Robb (Delta Upsilon at the University of Nebraska) and his family will go to Albany, N.Y., where Mr. Robb will assume his duties as publisher of the Albany Times-Union. Mrs. Robb, as perhaps you already remember, is the former Lillimor Taylor of Auburn, Delta Gamma at Nebraska.

HEAR THAT Mr. and Mrs. John M. Miles are expected home this week-end from Alexandria, Minn., where they have been the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest U. Genzel for the past week.

AND HOME again on Friday was Mrs. Charles B. Simon who returned from Duluth, Minn., where she had been spending the past month as the guest of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Caultkins, III. Young Dan Caultkins, IV, accompanied his grandmother to Lincoln, and will remain for a few weeks as her guest.

LEARNED THAT Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Farrell sailed yesterday from Le Havre, France, and are expected to be in Lincoln a week from today—The Farrells have been abroad for the past several weeks.

UNDERSTAND that Mr. and Mrs. Hutton Webster, who have been in Lincoln for a few weeks, left Friday for Marshalltown, Ia., but will return here later this week-end—and will be off and away to their home in Arizona on Monday.

LAST NIGHT, so we hear, the group of Haylofters that attend the performance at the Hayloft theater each Friday evening—and who meet for a party beforehand—were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Angle at their home.

SORRY WE ran out of space yesterday before we could tell you about the surprise housewarming on Wednesday evening—The honorees were Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Anderson who are now established in their home at 2610 So. 24th. Anyway, 40 of their friends, laden with supper food and a housewarming gift, arrived unannounced at the Anderson home, and we are told the surprise was a complete success.

WELL, let's see—Just took a look at our brides' book and there we found that Miss Barbara Dillman will be a dinner hostess at the University Club next Thursday evening when she entertains in pre-nuptial courtesy to Miss Ruth Raymond whose marriage to Charles Thone will take place on Aug. 19. Dinner places will be arranged for six, and Miss Raymond will be presented with a hostess gift.

ONE OF our July brides, Miss Joyce Finney, is being kept on the hop, skip and jump with pre-nuptial courtesies these days. Miss Finney, whose marriage to William Taylor will take place on August 1, was the honoree last Tuesday evening when 12 of her friends entertained at a no-hostess dinner at the Lincoln Country Club—The popular bride-elect was presented with a miscellaneous shower.

Plans July Wedding

MISS JOAN CONNORS

This morning Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Connors are announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Joan, to Ervin Peterson, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Peterson.

The wedding is planned for Saturday, July 25, and the ceremony will take place at the Bethany Christian Church.

Mr. Peterson is attending the University of Nebraska where he is a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity, and N. C. Club.

Just Between Us

by JEAN

—here's a tip for those of you who are packing to travel by plane and are limited to 44 or 66 pounds. One of Lincoln's much traveled young matrons tries to get all her packing done about five days before she leaves—the garments "mat down" considerably in that time so that more can be put into one suitcase. Of course, this same method works if luggage space is unlimited and the idea is to take as much as possible.

—one of our local young actresses who is English by birth and has resided in Lincoln for only a few years was amused to hear this story about her recent performance as an English woman in a summer theatre production. A gentleman seated behind one of her friends complained in a loud voice that the lady taking the British part certainly had a phony English accent!

—latest hairdo sported by one of the young—gentle—about-town was seen a few warm days ago at the swimming pool. Known as the "Mohawk cut," the young man's head was completely shaved except for a triangular piece of hair beginning at the crown, shaping off to nothing at the back of the neck. His father and he had decided to try this hair fashion and accomplished it with the aid of horse clippers.

—a local contractor is a touch peeved about the irony of fate. His firm had the job of building a weighing station on a highway outside of Lincoln and, on completion of the project, drove one of his own trucks over the new pavement and had it weighed in to test the finished product. He was 80 pounds over weight, and had to pay a heavy fine.

Introducing--

The Charles H. Perkes

were Roland Rice and Richard Likens, Miss Beverlee Muehlhausen, niece of the bride, was the flower girl, and ringbearer was Jerry Muehlhausen, nephew of the bride.

Given in marriage by her brother, Robert Muehlhausen, the bride appeared in a gown of Chantilly-type lace over satin. Beneath the strapless bodice, which was completed with a short-sleeved white lace jacket, the skirt of waltz-length was given accentuated fullness by insets of the re-embroidered lace, and her veil of imported illusion was held to the head with a half-hat of the lace. She carried a bouquet of white carnations.

Following a wedding trip to Montana and Wyoming, Mr. and Mrs. Buettgenbach will reside in Lincoln.

We Hear That--

Visiting in Lincoln the last ten days has been Mrs. Richard H. Jackson of Houston, Tex., who has been the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Burke. Dr. Jackson arrived Friday evening to join his wife, the former Bobbette Burke, and after a short stay they will leave next week for Havana, Cuba, to visit members of Dr. Jackson's family before returning home.

Also arriving Friday evening to be the week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Burke were Dr. and Mrs. H. M. Nogueiras of St. Paul, Minn. Dr. Jackson and Dr. Nogueiras, both formerly of Havana, Cuba, served their internships together at Lincoln General Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Banchak and sons, Paul Jr. and Alvin Wayne, left Friday evening for Algonquin, Ill., where they will visit Mr. Banchak's parents. From Illinois, the travelers will vacation in Wisconsin before returning home.

New Three-Story Courthouse Planned At West Point

Work Will Start Soon On Building

WEST POINT, Neb. (AP)—The Parsons Construction Co., of Omaha Friday was awarded the general contract for construction of the new Cuming County courthouse.

The Omaha concern entered a bid of $261,600.

The Natkin Co., of Omaha won the mechanical contract on a bid of $69,850, while the E. W. Electric Co., of Fremont was awarded the electric contract on a bid of $23,500.

Work on the structure, to replace the courthouse in use since 1871, will begin within 10 days. It was estimated that construction would be complete by Aug. 15, 1954.

The three-story, 60 by 120 foot building, will be of reinforced concrete, designed after industrial buildings in the east. It will be the first such courthouse structure built in Nebraska.

The plans call for constructing a jail and sheriff's quarters on the third floor. A circle drive will lead up to the building and there will be adequate parking space in front.

No bonds will be floated to cover costs of construction. The county has been putting money aside for several years to cover construction of the courthouse.

Services Held For Victim Of Accident

COLUMBUS, Neb. (AP)—Funeral services were held Friday afternoon for Robert Applegate, 61, of Columbus, victim of an auto-truck accident July 8.

Applegate died in a Columbus hospital of injuries suffered in the accident, near Leigh.

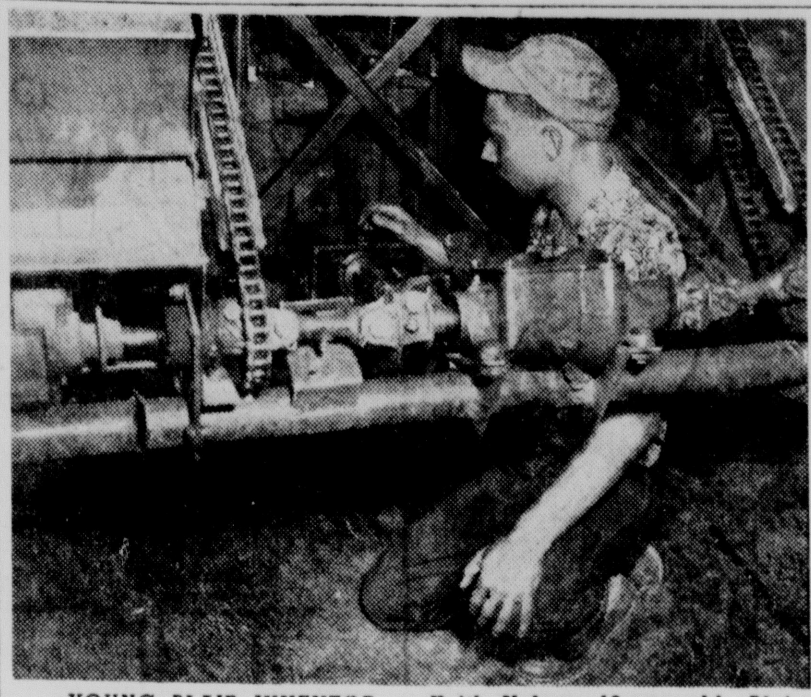

He was driving a state-owned truck when it was in collision with a car driven by Jerry Roucka of Clarkson. Roucka escaped with cuts and bruises.

The death was the 137th recorded in the state this year from a traffic mishap. A year ago at this time, the figure was 162.

Carmichael Heads Builders Bureau

HASTINGS, Neb.—(Lincoln Star Special)—Bud Carmichael has been named chairman of the Hastings Builders Bureau governing board. Other members of the board are George Kimball, H. T. Parker, Neal Jensen and Ed Jacob with Chamber of Commerce Manager Bob Garey serving as secretary.

The Hastings Builders Bureau serves as a clearing house for new construction or remodeling in the Hastings territory.

YOUNG BLAIR INVENTOR—Keith Nelson, 18-year-old Blair, Neb. farm youth, is shown with the reversal mechanism which he invented as a safety measure for mechanical corn pickers. The device, which is housed in the black metal case beneath Keith's hand, has been patented. The invention permits the operator of the tractor to reverse the motion of the husking and picking rollers on the compicker when they become clogged thus making it unnecessary for the farmer to take the risk of injury by having to free the clogged rollers by hand. Price Support Views Split, Survey Shows Government price supports for beef cattle are favored by nearly half the ranchers answering a survey conducted by the Sandhills Cattle Association.

"The rugged individualist idea has slipped a little," Robert Hamilton, secretary-manager of the association, said.

The survey was started July 3 after Hamilton detected a change in feelings toward price supports. For some time, he said, cattlemen were opposed to any type of government interference.

Results of the survey showed 77 of the 200 replying favored beef supports. There were 87 opposed and 33 answered "maybe or undecided." The association said the 200 replying represented both large and small cattle producers in 28 sandhill counties.

Other results of the post-card survey showed 110 favored removing support prices on corn. Fifteen were undecided and 56 were opposed.

Cattlemen overwhelmingly favored shipping surpluses to foreign aid receiving countries. Results showed 155, yes; six, no; and 33, maybe or undecided.

Credit for producers and feeders was felt adequate by 127. Thirty-six felt it was inadequate and 24 were undecided.

No trend was found on the question of the value of promotion of beef through advertising to clean up surpluses. Results—64, yes; 61, no; 66, undecided.

Hamilton said the association might conduct a similar survey in August after there was an indication of fall prices.

Corn Crop Needs Rain

Foundation Seen For Bumper Output

Nebraska's corn crop situation can be summed up in one sentence, "The corn needs moisture and it needs it now."

A. E. Anderson, state-federal crop statistician, added to the above statement by explaining that the corn now has started to tassel in some areas and with rain the state could realize a bumper crop.

However, if the state has no moisture by the end of July, the crop picture would take on a less promising aspect.

Early fertilizing, which accounts for the lush green appearance of the corn, meant a drain on subsoil moisture. With the exception of northeast Nebraska, subsoil moisture was in short supply at the beginning of the planting season.

Anderson said that the northeastern area of the state still has some subsoil moisture which accounts for the brighter crop outlook there. "And they're further away from the hot winds originating in the south," Anderson said.

Corn has been "marking time" this week, Anderson said. The cool weather has slowed up growth, but has also prevented the corn from burning.

"We've got the foundation for a bumper crop," Anderson stated. "But we've got to have rain before that crop materializes."

O'Neill Gas Line Completion Nears

O'NEILL, Neb. (AP)—Work crews are in the final phase of laying natural gas distribution lines to O'Neill.

Charles S. Duncan, district manager for the Kansas-Nebraska Natural Gas Co., said the O'Neill distribution system would be tested soon and would be available to patrons "in a very short time."

The completion of lines to Plainview has caused residents of town to make plans for a civic celebration July 23. O'Neill is expected to arrange for a similar event early next month.

Sall Appeals Conviction On Biting Off Ear

Robert Sall of Gothenburg has appealed to the State Supreme Court his conviction on a charge of biting off the ear of a 22-year-old Gothenburg man.

Sall was sentenced Dec. 30, 1952, to three years in the State Penitentiary by the District Court of Dawson County.

According to court records, Sall was charged with biting off the left ear of Arthur Houchin during a fight outside a Gothenburg tavern the night of Sept. 25, 1952.

Attorneys for Sall said the verdict was not sustained by evidence. None of the witnesses to the fight, they said, admitted seeing Sall bite off Houchin's ear. Sall was charged with mayhem. The attorneys said there was no evidence of premeditated malice which constitutes mayhem.

Errors Charged
In addition the attorneys charged that the court erred in permitting testimony by three other men in reference to previous fights with Sall.

The court also erred, the attorneys said, in refusing to instruct the jury on Sall's defense of temporary insanity. Houchin testified that he had hit Sall over the head with a full bottle of beer. Sall said he remembered nothing about the blow or fight with Houchin after the scuffle started. Sall's physician said Sall had suffered a possible skull fracture and might have been temporarily unconscious unable to distinguish between right and wrong.

The attorneys also said Sall's sentence was excessive since the plaintiff had no previous record.

Texans Send Drought-Area Cattle Here

O'NEILL, Neb. (AP)—Twenty-three carloads of cattle from the drought-stricken southwest are grazing in lush pastures near Chambers.

The 1,089 head from the Houston McCarthy ranch near Amarillo, Tex., were unloaded here and sent to the Lakeview Ranch for grazing.

Persons seeing the cattle unloaded said they were in better condition than expected, of the cattle, however, appeared gaunt as though they had been on short rations.

High Court Ruling Upholding Death Verdict To Be Appealed

Hugh V. Griffith, condemned to die in the Nebraska State Penitentiary electric chair on Oct. 16 for the shot-gun slaying of his wife, Anna, at Sidney on June 20, 1952, will appeal from the Nebraska Supreme Court ruling Friday upholding the jury verdict.

His attorney, Patrick J. Heaton of Sidney, learning of the high court's refusal to disturb the jury verdict in the first-degree murder conviction and of the execution date set by the court, told The Star:

"I definitely will appeal further and I am firmly convinced that this man did not shoot this woman."

Next Step Uncertain
He declined to say what appeal step would next be taken until after he had conferred with Griffith. Appeals could be made to Gov. Robert Crosby and to the U.S. Supreme Court.

Griffith, a 40-year-old oil field worker who was arrested near Greeley, Colo., three days after the slaying, denied the fatal shooting and claimed he had not been in Sidney at the time.

He denied there had been any disagreement between himself and his 34-year-old estranged wife.

But the Supreme Court said: "There is ample evidence from which the jury could find that the defendant, feloniously, purposely, and of his deliberate and premeditated malice shot and killed the deceased as charged by the state."

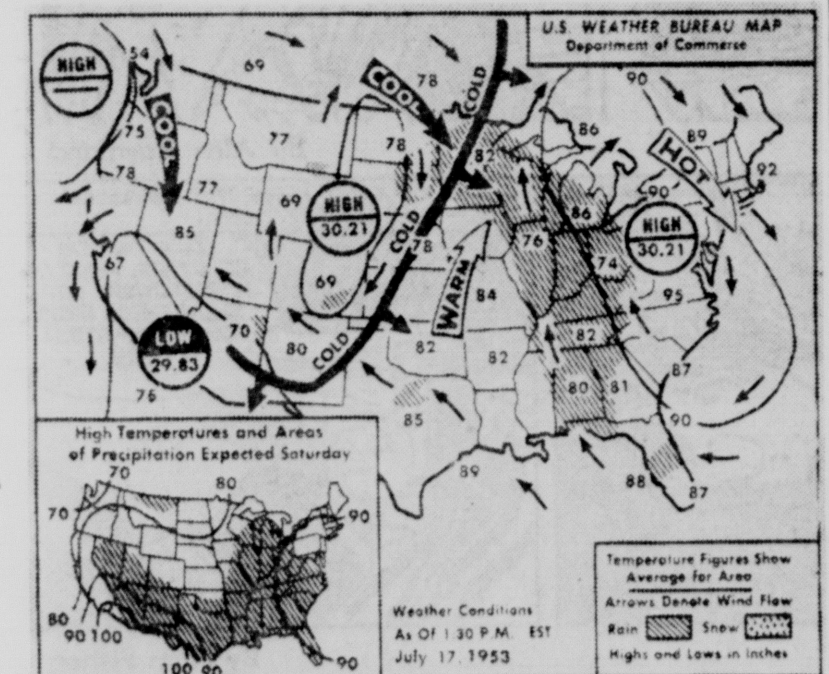

Jury Determination
"It is true," the court continued, "that the evidence is conflicting but the duty and responsibility of resolving conflicts in the evidence in this case is not committed to this court. The credibility of witnesses and the weight of the evidence are for the jury to determine in a criminal case and the conclusion of the jury may not be disturbed unless it is clearly wrong."

"The evidence in this case does not permit that a verdict of the jury is without proof to sustain it," the opinion concluded.

Mrs. Griffith was shot at the home of her parents. An important prosecution witness at the trial was a friend, Mrs. Catherine Hatcher, with whom she had attended a carnival a few hours before she was killed. The Hatcher home was across the street from the John Ferichs' home.

The Supreme Court appeal postponed a February execution date set by District Judge John Kuns of Kimball. Griffith would have been the 12th person to die by electrocution. Eight others have been executed by hanging at the Penitentiary prior to 1920.

Chadwell Ousts Adams

Upsets Persist As State Meet Enters Semifinals

By JIM CLARK
Star Sports Staff Member

A smiling, admittedly nervous Gene Chadwell of Lincoln erased the heavily etched name of Fairbury's Byron Adams from the diminishing roster of the State Grass Greens Golf tournament Friday afternoon.

The transplanted Omahan, who now calls the Hillcrest Country Club his home course, couldn't have found a better day to sharpen his game of golf than he did with his stirring 1-up decision over the 1951 title winner and defending champion of the State Sand Greens crown.

GIANT KILLER — Or, in other words, Lincoln's Gene Chadwell.

Only at the 18th hole, where a galaxy of followers estimated to be around 300 had gathered, did Chadwell seemingly lose

Jean Hyland Takes Gals' Golf Laurels

An early first-round advantage provided the edge Friday as Mrs. Paul Hyland picked up her third city women's golf title within a span of four years.

Mrs. Hyland, winner of the title in both 1950 and 1951, picked up a two stroke nod at the end of the first nine holes of play in her final match with Mrs. C. J. Botsford.

But Mrs. Botsford, who claims the distinction of having won the first city crown when the tourney was first inaugurated in 1951, drove the match to the 16th hole when she birdied the 14th and had halved the preceding holes.

THE RUNNERUP — Mrs. C. J. Botsford was runnerup to Mrs. Hyland.

Consecutive birdies by Mrs. Hyland on Nos. 15 and 16 concluded the match.

Mrs. Betty Davis saluted away the nine-hole flight trophy with her 2-1 triumph over Mrs. C. E. Squires. Lois Greenmeyer defeated Mrs. M. C. Wieland 2-1 for consolation honors in the nine-hole flight, while Mrs. H. A. Scott earned the same laurels with her 2-1 conquest of Dorothea Gore.

the tact that had carried him to a one stroke advantage.

There, when he attempted his second shot from the gulley that leads to the final hole, did Chadwell make a miscue that nearly cost him the match. But even a topped ball that carried less than 50 yards failed to daunt the efforts of the new title contender.

Adams landed to the front of the green on his third stroke, but as fine a recovery shot as has been seen in the week-long tournament put Chadwell within a foot of the cup in four. A two-putt by Adams and the hole was halved, giving Chadwell his first ticket to the semifinals of the state meet after 13 years of competition.

At the age of 42, Chadwell says he "guesses he is just a slow starter." But to the large gallery of Hillcrest followers he has brought new visions of housing the new 1953 state champion.

Today's semifinal windup will find four tournament-wise Capital City cohorts, representing each of Lincoln's three courses, fighting it out for that berth in the finals Sunday.

Chadwell will make his semifinal debut when he tackles Defending City Champion Bill Mowbray Jr. Mowbray stroked his way to a 2-1 decision over another Lincolnite, Stan Stroth, Friday.

The other two semifinalists, Erv Peterson and Whitely Reed, are pitted against each other in today's 36-hole tussle.

Peterson, former University of Nebraska golfer and son of Pioneers' Pro John Peterson, moved through a rough upper bracket in convincing fashion with a quarterfinal 3-2 win over Vince McAndrew of Omaha.

McAndrew had emerged to the quarterfinals through one of the roughest brackets in the tournament, beating out Frank Toblin, Omaha; Joe Gifford Sr., Lincoln; and Paul Gillespie of Lincoln, in order. Gifford pulled one of the tourney's biggest surprises when he ousted medalist Bob Astleford of Omaha in the first round of match play.

For Reed, who tied for medalist runnerup honors at the end of 36 holes of qualifying, the familiar stomping grounds at Hillcrest have afforded him a week of thrills. Never pressed the full distance in four rounds of play, Reed wiped out his Friday foe, Roy Wythers Jr., of Omaha with a 3-2 conquest.

The semifinalists will go the 36 hole route today, while in the other flights play will be confined to the regular 18.

NEW YORK (AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers ran their winning streak to four games and their National League lead to three games Friday night by overpowering St. Louis in a doubleheader 14-0 and 7-4.

They gained half a game on the Milwaukee Braves, who shook off their Pittsburgh jinx with an 8-2 victory, and a game and a half over the third place Philadelphia Phillies, who bowed to Harry Perkowsky and the Cincinnati Redlegs 3-2. The Phils now trail by five and the Cardinals by seven.

The New York Yankees clung to their four game advantage in the American League with a 6-4 verdict over the St. Louis Browns while Virgil Trucks pitched the crushing Chicago White Sox to a 4-1 triumph over Washington. Third place Cleveland also won, 5-0 over Philadelphia on Bob Lemon's five-hit pitching and fourth place Boston made it a clean sweep for first division teams by squeezing out a 3-2 victory at Detroit.

The Dodgers poured across seven runs in the first inning of the first game against St. Louis and turned it into the most one-sided shutout of the major league season with seven more—four of them on Billy Cox' grand slam home run—in the later innings.

Jackie Robinson homered twice, the second time with the score tied and two abroad, to clinch the second game.

Milwaukee's success against the Pirates was its first in its last six tries. Warren Spahn gave up only four hits in registering his 12th victory.

New World Mark Set In Half Mile

ABO, Finland (AP)—Mal Whitfield of New York set a world record for 880 yards of 1:48.6 in an international track and field meet Friday night.

The old record of 1:49.2 was held jointly by Whitfield and Sidney Wooderson of England. Wooderson set the record in 1938 and Whitfield tied it in 1950.

Wes Santee of Kansas placed second in 1:48.9, also faster than the old record.

Whitfield won the 800-meter race at the 1948 and 1952 Olympic Games.

Whitfield took the lead from the start and held it until some 200 yards from the finish line when Santee passed him.

Elks Downed By 5-4 Count

HEBRON — Hebron extended its win streak to 11 games Friday night at the expense of the Lincoln Elks by a score of 5-4.

The winners pulled the game out in the last inning when they put together three Elks' errors and a base hit for the deciding run.

Gray, who went the route for Hebron on the mound, struck out five Lincoln batters and gave up seven hits.

Lincoln got off to a fast start with one run in the first and three in the second. The run in the first came on a triple by Jim Maul. He scored on an infield out.

In the second, Jack Carlin singled, Hergenrader was safe on a fielder's choice, and Packy Young and Maul followed with singles.

The Elks, with an 8-7 win-loss record for the season, go to Grand Island for their last game before the tournament.

The line score:

Elks	5	130	000	0-4	7	6
Hebron	4	100	210	0-5	6	4

Brooklyn Fattens Lead; Yanks, Chicago Winners

PERKOWSKI scattered eight hits and scored the winning run as he ended the Phillies' seven game winning streak. Curt Simmons was the loser.

The Yankees turned in the season's second triple play and made four double plays against the Browns. With St. Louis runners on first and second in the second inning Irv Noren made a shoestring catch of a line drive by Clint Courtney. His throw to Phil Rizzuto caught Vic Wertz off second and Rizzuto threw to first baseman Don Bollweg before Don Lennhardt could get back. The other triple play was by Washington against New York, May 22.

Trucks gave up doubles to Jim Busby and Mickey Vernon and a ninth inning home run to Eddie Yost in winning his sixth straight game since joining the White Sox in June. His record is now 11-4 for the season. Minnie Minsos gave Trucks all the runs he needed with a two-run homer in the fourth.

Luke Easter and Larry Doby drove in four runs on home runs in the sixth inning for Cleveland as Lemon won his 12th game. Little Bobby Shantz was the loser for the Athletics, his seventh defeat against only three victories.

Spink used four pitchers in his triumph at Detroit with starter Skinny Brown gaining credit for his ninth victory. Milt Bolling's seventh inning home run off loser Ted Gray was the deciding run.

Del Webb Said To Favor Kansas City

ST. LOUIS (INS)—The Sporting News reported Friday that Del Webb, co-owner of the New York Yankees, views Kansas City as a logical site if the Browns are moved from St. Louis.

Publisher J. G. Taylor Spink in a copyrighted story writes that Webb may have been misinterpreted in his remarks that the major leagues should look to the west. The New York construction executive made the statement in Cincinnati this week in explaining why he thought transfer of the Browns to Baltimore would be unwise.

Spink says that after Webb's statement the Kansas City council this week stepped up plans to improve the ball park now used by the Kansas City Blues of the American Association, to meet major league standards.

Spink adds, "The move would open the way for several good baseball towns, particularly Denver, to apply for the Blues' franchise and thus advance to triple-A ball."

Hopp To Play Again

Disposal Plant Employees Ask Pay Increase

The board of Sanitary District 1 has been asked to approve an increase in salaries for employees of the district's disposal plant at 22nd and Theresa.

M. S. Fitzsimmons, disposal plant superintendent, told the board that he was short two men now and could find no replacements because of the wage offered. It was pointed out by Fitzsimmons that the minimum plant salary is $1.09 an hour.

The head foreman at the plant, said Fitzsimmons, is paid only $1.37 an hour. Construction companies working on the expansion and improvement of the plant, said Fitzsimmons, are paying experienced help $1.25 an hour to start.

The superintendent stated that he was recently forced to hire a jack hammer operator for a short period. For that part time work Fitzsimmons reported he had to pay $1.75 an hour—more than he pays his full time men who have worked at the plant for 10 to 12 years.

Fitzsimmons recommended no new salary schedule. The board appointed a three-man committee from its members to study the proposal in more detail with Fitzsimmons.

Meet STAR Carrier Carolyn Auman

Carolyn Auman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Auman, carries The Lincoln Star in Fifth. Neb. Carolyn is 11 years old and in the 5th grade at Fifth Public School.

She says that her best subject is geography because she likes to study about the different places and people of the world and about how these other people live.

A Lincoln Star carrier since July, 1952, Carolyn says her route furnishes her with enough money to buy her own clothes and pay for her recreational activities.

Her customers all vouch for her dependability. They find their paper inside their door at the same time each morning.

Our Lincoln Star carriers enjoy many advantages over youngsters not carrying routes. They receive practical training in selling, collecting, and delivering, the three basic fundamentals of all types of business. And better still, they are able to earn while they are learning.

Anyone interested in carrying a morning Lincoln Star route may receive full particulars by writing the State Carrier Dept. of The Star in Lincoln, Neb.
